

Kate Voegele, Manhattan From The Sky

Baby whatcha doing today?
What are you doing later?
I dont know my way
Through a maze of gray skyscrapers oh
But Im willing to learn
If you want me to
Ill stay just where I am
But promise just to follow
Where I land
And you can take my word for that
Cause you are my Manhattan from the sky
You look so neat and tidy when Im way up high
But I know your streets are lined with a fine mess inside
I wanna come down and walk around youre mind
Daisies once upon an old daydream
Thats what you gave me
Out on the corner of Broadway and 48th street
On a rainy afternoon
I could start discovering your world
I would make a damn good city girl
Things would start to bloom Im sure
Cause you are my Manhattan from the sky
You look so neat and tidy when Im way up high
But I know your streets are lined with a fine mess inside
I wanna come down and walk around youre mind
I know you want me to see
Dont lie to me
So why you gotta go be so shy to me?
I aint buying the false anxiety
Let your fortress fall
What is it gonna take to get you to there
If it was money youd be a millionaire
Or all alone in a leather swivel chair
Counting stacks of gold
Oh you are my Manhattan from the sky
You look so neat and tidy when Im way up high
But I know your streets are lined with a fine mess inside
I wanna come down and walk around
You are my Manhattan from the sky
You look so neat and tidy when Im way up high
But I know your streets are lined with a fine mess inside
I wanna come down and walk around youre mind
Ohhhh ohhh
