

Kecak, Colin Eby

I left the city far too fast
Never looking back
I left no forwarding address
Goodbye and don't look back

I said I'd write but never did
I never did

I had learned to shake it off without even trying
I had learned to take it off without even trying
Somehow I thought no one would stay
We'd be gone before too late
But I knew I'd be back someday

9 months later he was gone
They said he moved back home

I said I'd write but never did
I never did

I had learned to shake it off without even trying
I had learned to take it off without even trying
Now I know it's been too long
It's not how he planned it
If I could know just where he's gone
I might understand it

I said I'd write but never did
I never did
