

Keelaghan James, My Skies

Take a walk under my skies
Try to see it the way I do
If you look out through my eyes
You'll find a different point of view
Everything changes
Every fact wears some disguise
Cast off your troubles
Take a walk under my skies
Not one rule
Since you've been born
That's not been tattered
Has not been torn
Not one thing you cared about
That's not been darkened by the shadow of doubt
Hard times
Take a walk under my skies
Try to see it once the way I do
If you look out through my eyes
You'll find a different point of view
Everything changes
Every fact wears some disguise
Cast off your troubles
Take a walk under my skies
Not one dream
You can hold
That's not been bought
And has not been sold
Not one payment you can make
It's like a thirst you can never slake
Hard times
Take a walk under my skies
Try to see it once the way I do
If you look out through my eyes
You'll find a different point of view
Everything changes
Every fact wears some disguise
Cast off your troubles
Take a walk under my skies
Hard times
Hard times
Hard times
