

Keith Moon, I Don't Suppose

I don't suppose you wanna make up
I don't suppose you wanna try
You'd like to dream and never wake up
So would I

There's many ways of asking questions
So many ways that you could go
I don't suppose
I don't suppose
I don't suppose you'd wanna know

I wish that I could find the answer
I guess it's written in the stars
You think you're lost without direction
Well, you are

There's many ways of getting answers
So many people you could be
I don't suppose
I don't suppose
I don't suppose you'd wanna see

I like to take you and, and take you, I can stand
I'd like to show you how I feel
The things we used to say
Mistakes of yesterday
Too hazy lately to be real

And it's all so hard
To understand

To all my friends who didn't make it
I'd like to dedicate this song
If you supposed that you could fake it
You were wrong

There's many ways of getting over it
So many ways that you could give
I don't suppose
I don't suppose
I don't suppose you want to live

I don't suppose
I don't suppose

"Who are you?
Where do you come from?
How do you fit into the pattern of human existence?"
