

Kekal, Vox Diaboli

(music & lyrics: Jeff) within our senseless will, driving motives - no absolution for one's desires - changes are minor, yet impact is unaccountable - no standard for achieving satisfaction - rising from the depths of needs - voices that will take control - the dances of demons inside the brain - post-modern struggle within a self - when the basics are covered, alternatives taken - creatively made options, a new world chaos - many to choose from, but more yet to offer - the world is not enough as sky is our limit - derived from disturbances - arrival of morbid signals - when insanity approaches - the weak is the one who denies his weakness - no need to evaluate sin and its values - when it came to degenerate our existence - accepting the power to wash-over self - transformation is imminent - rising from the hollow core

- someone who must take control - invite the flame to purge and burn - ruling the battle within a self