

Keldian, Beyond The Stars

theres a voice inside me a distant memory
I know Ive lived before the elder world has fallen to an age of wars the tide has turned again by the mercy of our sins we live our lives in a world made of dreams
open your eyes
release your astral ties
and you will transcend
beyond the stars
I can hear the suffering the hate inside and it pulls me to the ground bleeding hands are trembling can you forgive?
is there courage to believe?
by the mercy of our sins we live our lives
in a world made of dreams
open your eyes
release your astral ties
and you will transcend
beyond the stars