

Kelly Willis, I'm Just Lonely

Well I took those vows to prove my love was strong
And you told me that our love was carved in stone
But that stone was crushed today and the pieces blown away
Though you swore to me that nothing could go wrong

Our love's turned into something to keep us from being alone
Cause I don't miss you when your not here I'm just lonely

Well it's late at night and I'm sittin' here alone
The things I might have done while you were gone
Now I begged you to stay just to keep my thoughts at bay
But you left me here to wonder on my own

Our love's turned into something...

Yeah I took those vows to prove my love was strong
And you told me that our love was carved in stone
But that stone was crushed today and the pieces blown away
Though you swore to me that nothing could go wrong

Our love's turned into something...

Cause I don't miss you when your not here I'm just lonely
Yeah I don't miss you when your not here I'm just lonely
