Kelly Willis, Not Long For This World

We're not long for this world we're not long for this world And the way I can tell is I know you too well We're not long for this world

I know the words that you say and the words that you mean And I remember the days when you meant everything

We're not long for this world... [ac.guitar] You hold me close in your arms and I feel the cold Oh but you never meant any harm by the lies that you told

We're not long for this world...
