

Kendall Payne, One More Try

So much deeper than the oceans is the heart of the man
So much higher than the mountains
Are the things that I dont understand
Like why Im crying over someone who will never give a damn
We have boarded up the basement for the storm has found its prey
I have bottled my emotions and saved them for a rainy day
Now I'll drink the bitter poison of a love thats been delayed
And since youve been gone
I cant fight it
I cant fight it
Ive tried for too long
I cant hide it
I cant hide it anymore
This has called for desperate measures
We have left our pride behind
We are aging with the hours of this superficial life
And I refuse to be a failure, I have to give it one more try
But I doubt that you are listening and I doubt that you are moved
I have doubted every step along this long and darkened journey
But I have never doubted you
Now the longing has awoken and I just dont know what to do
Since youve been gone
I cant fight it
I cant fight it
Ive tried for too long
I cant hide it
I cant hide it
And since youve been gone
I cant fight it
I cant fight it
Ive tried for too long
I cant hide it
I cant hide it anymore