

Kenny, Nice To Have You Home

Woke up this morning so glad to be alive
I knew that this would be my lucky day Waitin' and wonder just when would you arrive Countin' all the hours you'd been away
Yes today is gonna be my lucky day.
It's so nice nice
nice to have you home again
And you're lookin' exactly just the way you used to look before It's so nice
nice
nice to have you home again
And now that you're here I know you gonna stay You're never ever ever gonna go away anymore.

Looked at the letter I'd read so many times Now the day had really come at last Thought of you saving all your nickles and your dimes
But now our time was really comin' fast We'd make up for everthing that's past.
It's so nice
nice to have you home again . . .