

Kenny Rogers, Today I Started Lovin' You Again

Well today, I started lovin' you again
Now I'm right back where I've really always been
I got over you just long enough to let my heartaches mend
Then today I started lovin' you again.

What a fool I was to think I could get back
With only these few million tears I've cried
I should have known the world is too short to come
And the cryin' time for me has just begun.

Well today, I started lovin' you again
Now I'm right back where I've really always been
I got over you just long enough to let my heartaches mend
Then today I started lovin' you again...
