

Keren Ann, Greatest You Can Find

I want the morning rain to push it all off my face
The world as fast as a train to take me away and leave me out there
Want the Sunday priest to put up the candle
Some air to breath love is much more then one can handle

Your love is greater greatest you can find
Your love is greater greatest you can find
Your love is greater greatest you can find
Your love is greater greatest you can find here

I want the morning rain to tell you whats on my mind
No youre not vain but defiantly not one of a kind
How can someone be so impossible to break?
This ones on me your love much more then one can take

Your love is greater greatest you can find
Your love is greater greatest you can find
Your love is greater greatest you can find
Your love is greater greatest you can find here

Ah bu bu bu x8

Your love is greater greatest you can find
Your love is greater greatest you can find
Your love is greater greatest you can find
Your love is greater greatest you can find

Ah bu bu bu
