

Keri Noble, Answered Prayer

You are the answered prayer
That I thought was never heard
But here you are in front of me
And I admit, I'm finding it hard to breathe and I believe
In answered prayer
I put away what I thought was youthful faith
But someone must have heard my silent cry
For here you are before my eyes
Now you know, you are the reason why I believe
In answered prayer
Some may try to convince me
That this is what everyone else feels
But I know that
God and I are the only ones
Who ever heard my appeal
(That's why)
You are the answered prayer
That I thought was never heard
But here you are in front of me
And I admit
I'm finding it hard to breathe
And I believe
In answered prayer
You are my answered prayer