

Kessler, Outside Your Window

I've been standing here at your front door I thought you'd ask me in
But I guess it's me who wanted more

I can't explain exactly why I can't just go There's so much to you that I am dying just to know

The closer I get to you
The harder it is to stay I'm right outside your window
With a million reasons I can't walk away

Now another night is breaking through You closed the door but I am Still not giving up on you

You turn that key just to keep us all away But I will show you that you don't have to be afraid and I'll be waiting for you rest assured tonight that I won't sleep no I won't sleep
