Kevin Borg, More Than I Do Now

I will look into your eyes and tell you now That I need you An I'll never reach the end of wanting you Angel without wings Lyin next to me I can't believe what heaven let you come to me tonight Light within my soul It's you who keeps me breathin You who keeps me seeing there is colour in this life I will look into your eyes and tell you now That I need you And I'll never reach the end of wanting you Some how Can't wait untill tomorrow Till I see your face again I will love you Even more than I do now When the doubt comes in I know I'm not that easy Baby all you have to do is turn to me and then I will look into your eyes and tell you now That I need you And I'll never reach the end of wanting you Some how Can't wait untill tomorrow Till I see your face again I will love you Even more than I do now Every day, every moment that passes between us Makes silence seen like it calls your name I will look into your eyes and tell you now That I need you And I'll never reach the end of wanting you Some how I will look into your eyes and tell you now That I need you And I'll never reach the end of wanting you Some how Can't wait untill tomorrow Till I see your face again I will love you Even more than I do now
