

Kevin Fowler, Fool Born Everyday

Well in the morning a-when I rise Wipe that sleep out of my eyes Guess it should be no surprise
You never made it home
Another night out on the town
You were a-painting it red and tearin it down
You must have got lost on your way home Well here we go again

Chorus

I've been holdin on
When I shoulda been a-letting go So I'll be movin along Think it's time I hit the road I'm sure youll be looking find a man to take my place well it wont take a-long cause there's a fool born every day

(yeah there is)

Well I was your fool for oh so long I wouldn't believe what was going on I should of seen it all along how could I been so blind before I hit the edge of town you'll be out there somewhere fooling 'round well this old truck is headed south bound you won't see nothing but dust chorus X2

yeah it won't take long cause there's a fool born everyday