

Kevin Max, On And On

You are the sunshine
I am the rain that falls in line
You are a candle
And I am your darkness
You are the moonlight
I am the cloud that passes by
You are a vision
And I am blindness

And so it goes
The story is far too old to know it all

Chorus* On and On, we dance until the song is off the radio
On and on, we hold each other long after the crowd is gone
On and on, our love goes on and on

You are an island
I am the raging of the sea
You are a fortress
And I am abandoned
You are the valley
You are the bird that flies so high
You are a temple
And I am a beggar

And so it goes
The story is far too old to know it all

Chorus

Take me to your drawbridge, come take me to your door
Take me when I'm hungry, baby, take me when I'm poor
Take me when I'm sick of love, take me when you've had enough
Take me when I'm lost, alone, and don't know the reasons why
