

Kevin Moroney, I Miss You

I Miss You

Sometimes I gaze out at the sea, I hear you calling out to me.
And my memories now seem so far away.
How long have you been gone? I can't remember.

Oh forever you'll live on inside my mind.
We may meet another place, another time.
And the pleasure we once knew. It will all become so true.
That we will not remember why we ever parted.

And I still keep the pictures that you sent me.
I see your smile and the passion in your eyes.
I long to hold you. Just to remember.
How I miss you, since you walked away from me.

Somewhere there is a shining light constantly burning, burning bright.
My emotions for you will never change.
And my heart cries out for you. But you're not there.

Oh forever you'll live on inside my mind.
We may meet another place, another time.
And the pleasure we once knew. It will all become so true.
That we will not remember why we ever parted.

And I still keep the pictures that you sent me.
I see your smile and the passion in your eyes.
I long to hold you. Just to remember.
How I miss you, since you walked away from me.

And I still keep the pictures that you sent me.
I see your smile and the passion in your eyes.
I long to hold you. Just to remember.
How I miss you, since you walked away from me.

How I miss you, since you walked away from me.