

Kevin Parent, Two Minutes

I was mowing the lawn while singing a song,
just taking advantage of the day.
But then the blade hit a hill and I felt a certain chill,
cause I know that many ants had been killed.

I was stunned for a while but then I said "never mind"
and I kept on taking advantage of the day.
The best way to relax is to ignore certain facts.
But certain facts tend to relapse.

Two minutes is the time of a feeling.
Two minutes and then you realize.
That two minutes can be sometimes deceiving.
Yes, two minutes can open your eyes!

I was rolling down the road.
I didn't have far to go
when I saw a flame light up the sky.
It was one of my friends who had come to an end,
without even saying goodbye.

Two minutes is the time of a feeling.
Two minutes and then you realize.
That two minutes can be sometimes deceiving.
Yes, two minutes can break down a smile!

With time, you're more aware of the dangers out there.
And that you can't live forever even if you dare.
There's only one way out man there is no doubt.
You might as well do what you can while you're here.

Two minutes is the time of a feeling.
Two minutes and then you realize.
That two minutes can be sometimes deceiving.
But two minutes can give you a beautiful child,
a beautiful child!
