Kevin Sharp, Somebody's Baby

It's five o'clock at the sad cafe Dinner for one, table for two, another lonely day She tries to hide the pain But her strong will is just a weak disguise It's there in her eyes

(Chorus) She wants to be somebody's baby She wants to be somebody's friend She just needs a shoulder to lean on now and then She's no stranger to danger She's had her heart broke a time or two She wants to be somebody's baby But she's nobody's fool

Someone long ago promised her the moon But the fairy tale didn't go so well It ended way too soon And the scars of love have been known to take some time to heal Can't you see how she feels

(Repeat Chorus)

She's no stranger to danger She's had her heart broke a time or two She wants to be somebody's baby But she's nobody's fool
