

Khan, Break The Chains

Can you see an image on the inside of my eye?
Is it always straight and never changing?
Reflecting all the sadness of a life turned upside-down
Is it you or just a total stranger?
Unseeing eyes stare so blank at the picture

Wipe the dust from your eyes
See life all around you
Take the strength in your hands
Break the chains and realise
Wipe the dust from your eyes
See life all around you
Take the strength in your hands
Break the chains and realise you're free

You're waiting like a child to be taken by the hand
In circles that lead back to where they started
For you could read a book without looking at the words
If you had written all the chapters to it
Unseeing eyes stare so blank at the picture

Wipe the dust from your eyes
See life all around you
Take the strength in your hands
Break the chains and realise
Wipe the dust from your eyes
See life all around you
Take the strength in your hands
Break the chains and realise you're free

Wipe the dust from your eyes
See life all around you
Take the strength in your hands
Break the chains and realise
