

Kidbrother, This Means Goodbye

I thought I'd found the weakest link until I started to look around.
Going over the entire chain, and found that it was all rotted out.
But what are you gonna do but hope it gets you through the night.
Cause when the chain is broken all the ghosts will come out.
They'll come back out.

I thought I'd found a special friend to keep me company.
I'd live for her, she'd lie for me, just like in the movies.
We swore it would never change, but somehow it did you see.
I started dying, when she started lying to me.
Why are you lying to me?

As sure as this day will end and never come back again.
As sure as that sun goes down, it's too late for us now.
As sure as I'll still be here, and as sure as you won't care.
As sure as I won't be much more than alive, it's too late for us now.

If I could find some peace of mind then maybe I could forget.
But I can't find a piece of my mind that isn't infected yet.
You are running through my veins, spreading so rapidly.
Like a cause and a cure, a peace and a war all in one.
I surrender my guns.

As sure as this day will end and never come back again.
As sure as that sun goes down, it's too late for us now.
As sure as I'll still be here, and as sure as you won't care.
As sure as the time goes by, it's too late for us now.
As sure as this means goodbye...