

Kieran Goss, All That You Ask Me

All that you ask me is that I remember
That I remember what we've been through
All that I'm saying is that I remember
That I remember you

Some people say that miles makes no distance
Miles is the distance between you and me
And watch out for love it's not gold cos it glistens
And cheap reminiscence ain't worthy of you

If it's not all or nothing it's not worth the giving
Love's not worth the living till it's put to the test
And no guarantees doesn't mean I'm not buying
Just means we keep trying even more than the rest

There's no sadness in leaving if you leave for a reason
The best of all reasons is to come back again
And tears in the morning can bring joy in the evening
If you just keep believing that love finds a way
