

Kieran Goss, I Don't Want To Stop Loving You

Now I still cry if I need to
And I still laugh when I can
And I can't say where all this will lead to
When I don't even know where I am
And I miss your head on the pillow
And the comfort of saying your name
'Cause love's not just being together
It's two hearts both feeling the same

Now I don't want to stop loving you
I just want this hurting to heal
I don't want to stop loving you
I can't change the way that I feel

There's words like loss and rejection
And an ego that's kicked to the ground
But after some thought and reflection
Are you losing much more than you found
And if this is all about learning
I'm hoping that maybe you'll find
That freedom's not just for the winning
It's what you're leaving behind

Now I don't want to stop loving you
I just want this hurting to heal
I'll never stop loving you
I can't change the way that I feel
I can't change the way that I feel