

Killer, Airborne

Something broke the silence
Something interfered
Something made me promise
Something I can't keep
Something got me started
Something told me off
Something got me running
Something made me stop

But to leave me out of love, to cut me from the core is killing me
And I can't breath, but if only

I was airborne I'd fly away, I'd fall from grace
I'd fall headlong and come around in a better place
Where you, you would love me too
Just like I love you

Something's off my shoulders
Something drags me down
Something I left open
Is letting something out

So many times that I called you up
And I tried to let you know that I'm so in love
And I know how you hate when I talk too much
Yet I told you stuff, but it was not enough
