

Kills Gravity, Drown

I feel your reflection
But your a stranger to me
I saw you staring back now
Your shadow right next to me
Can you be, my enemy, my disease
Looking through, whats left of you to hold on to
Drowning, hold my head down under
Waiting, you touch but you cant feel
You want to break my silence
You know you have too much to lose
You think that you're so homely
You think you're breaking me in two
Cover me, in misery, in anything
Im still here, you're still here, am I still here?
Drowning, hold my head down under
Waiting, you touch but you cant feel
Drown in silence, in my viloence
Drown in silence, things are better left undone
Can you be, my enemy, my disease
Looking through, whats left of you to hold on to Drowning, hold my down under Waiting, you touch what you cant feel