

Kim Putnoky, Why

I was walking down the street and i looked up and there you were sitten their reading a book we once read together
i looked at you,
and you look at me
and from that point on i knew it was meant to be the smile of your face the twinkle in your eye that little voice inside me told me it was meant to be you walked towards me and i looked down

you asked me for a date and i turned around and ran

CHORUS

Why Why
can i only say the things i want to when your not around Why Why
can i never express myself the way i want to i feel the need to shout it out but when i see you
i turn inside out

A few days later i see you again you lookin good as always and than when you come up to me i realize this isn't a fantasy so i hide
deep inside becuase i hurt you once before but i love you so much with your gentle touch

I love you
I shout it out to you in a crowded hallway baby please come back to me love me, hold me, the way you used to i miss you , i need , baby I love

Chorus, till fading
