

Kim Wilde, Four Letter Word

Written by Ricky & Marty Wilde

I tell ya

It's hell yeah

When love says goodbye it's a four letter word

Because your heart knows

When love goes

The feeling is bad - it's the pits of the world

It's sad but true

When nothing you can do, can bring it back

Standing in the rain

She starts to cry

Is it all a game

She wonders why

Why it had to start

Why should it end, and take her apart

Because she shows it

She knows it

But what can she do, it's a four letter word

Because it shakes you

It breaks you

And when it's the end, it's the worst thing you heard

It's over now

And nothing you can do can bring it back

Calling out his name

She starts to cry

Guys are all the same

She wants to die

Hide away the tears

No-one will see, and no-one must hear

But oh

How can the love that she has be profane

And how can something that's so beautiful

Just Jeckyl and Hyde around

It's so sad...

I tell ya

It's hell yeah

When love says goodbye

It's a four letter word

Because your heart knows

When love goes

The feeling is bad

it's the worst in the world

It's sad but true

When nothing you can do, can get it back

Standing in the rain

She starts to cry

Shouting out his name

Four letter words
