

Kim Wilde, Tell Me Where You Are

Written by ricki & kim wilde

Although I'm standing here beside you
You make me feel like I'm all alone
And I've been trying hard to break through
But if you need me I've got to know

Baby, I've got to know is this imagination or something real
Baby, where do you go won't you come a little closer
And tell me how you feel

Tell me where you are
Cos we seem so far apart
Tell me where you are
Where's your heart

I know that love has been a stranger
And always something that let you down
Honey, you're not in any danger
I'll never give up on what we've found

Baby, I love you so come on turn around and listen to what I say
Baby, I'll never go you don't have to keep your distance
Please stop running away

Tell me where you are
Cos we seem so far apart
Tell me where you are
Where's your heart

Have you discovered a place to hide
Because you're scared of letting anyone inside
Forget your pride
Come on baby give it a try

Baby
Tell me where you are
Where's your heart
Baby, tell me where you are
Cos we seem so far apart
Tell me where you are
Where's your heart