

Kim Wilde, Who's To Blame

Written by Kim Wilde & Tony Swain

Just like in a dream

I'm trying to scream

But no-one can hear me when I call

I feel paralysed

Unable to cry

While watching the world around me fall

Heard it on the news today

What are we doing to our world

There's got to be a better way

And we've got to choose it

And while we destroy

Our children will grow

Not missing the things they'll never know

A crime against them

Against you and me

A crime against all humanity

Heard it on the news today

What are we doing to our world

There's got to be a better way

And we've got to choose it

Don't you know that a day will come

To everyone

When they'll ask us to explain

Are we going to say that we weren't to blame

Who else could there be

Just like in a dream

I'm trying to scream

I feel paralysed

Unable to cry

What are we doing

Heard it on the news today

What are we doing to our world

There's got to be a better way

Or we're gonna lose it

Who's to blame?
