

Kimberley Locke, Before

I never knew I was existing Getting by from sun to sun Missing out on what my life someday would become.
There were friends and there were lovers
There were times I really cared And every now and then someone I thought I always wanted there I laughed and dreamed, I moved and my heart beat...but

-CHORUS-

I never lived before, never felt before Never breathed until I breathed the same air as you I never gave before, always wanted more
And with one touch I knew I'd never loved before you

It's like I never saw a sunrise Till I woke up by your side Like I didn't see the moon until I saw it in your eyes And never kissed until your lips touched mine

-REPEAT CHORUS-

Before you there was no music
No rhythm and no rhyme
Now life is like a symphony
And my heart is alive
