

Kimberley Locke ft. Clay Aiken, Without You

Never even thought to cry
When I heard you say goodbye
Never said that you were going
And theres no laughter in the air
Only silence everywhere
And so much less unspoken
Since you've been gone
I have an empty space
I wish that I could see
Who's to blame
Without you, where do I belong?
Without you, how can I go on?
And no love does what yours will ever do
Tell me how am I supposed to live me life?
Without you
Cause I lost you
To the point I couldn't sleep
I worried I was dying
Now it's all that I can do
To see photographs of you
And stop myself from crying
I tried to live without your love
Got so many memories
But it's not enough
Without you, where do I belong?
Without you, how can I go on?
And no love does what yours will ever do
Tell me how am I supposed to live my life
Without you?
I feel hopeless and oh so alone
Like I never felt before
I don't remember what it's like anymore
Without you, where do I belong?
Without you, how can I go on?
And no love does what yours will ever do
Tell me how am I supposed to live my life
Without you?
Without you?
Tell me how am I supposed to live my life,
Without you?
