

Kimberley Locke, I Could

Hey..yeah

I could pretend to love you
Be someone else for awhile Make you believe you're the one that I want Give you my heart in disguise
I could be all you've wanted
Make all your dreams come true yeah Surrender my love at the fate of your will Live out your fantasy for you and you would be happy

and I'd make you smile
And I'd go on living a lie

(Chorus)
Do you really want to give your life to thinking you found true love when it hasn't found you Do you really want to give your life to
thinking you found true love when it hasn't found you

I could make you a promise Be all you want me to be Give you my hand as we walk down the aisle so you can live happily

and you would be happy
and I'd make you smile
And I'd go on living a lie

(Chorus)

But this is not what I have planned
I hope one day that you will understand If I could change this heart I would And say "I love you" only if I could

Do you really want to give your life to
thinking you found true love when it hasn't found you

I could be the one to hold you I could be the one you need
But I could never be the one to give you everything

Do you really want to give your life to thinking you found true love yeah yeah
Do you really want to give your life to
thinking you found true love when it hasn't found you