

Kina Grannis, Try

Try

Having nowhere else to go

He was lonely, she was cold.

Whenever they went out

It seemed as though the world began to grow

The two they both had not felt big enough to take in something of their own

And they kept moving along, singing a song a sad song, of how they'd never learn and they'd never know

Chorus:

To try.

They've been paralyzed by fearful eyes

And realize you can move along

Write your own song

And be on your way

He had always dreamed to change

The world around him,

Rearrange the mess

Because through his eyes it all was beautiful

But not to all the rest

He had so much to say, he had so much to show

But he kept moving along, singing a song a sad song, of how he'd never learn and he'd never know

Chorus

She was unsure of many things

But disregarding all the others, she loved to sing.

But she was too scared to fail too scared to give it a go

And she kept moving along, singing a song a sad song, of how'd she'd never learn and she'd never know

Chorus

Bridge:

So I'll stop running away

If you start learning to stay and speak your mind

And I'll keep writing my songs

If you stop thinking you're wrong today.

Chorus
