Won't let the grass grow under my feet
Carry you home, memories run deep
Won't let the grass grow under my feet
Carry you home, memories run deep.

Winter has turned your crimson skies to grey
Summer has gone
But in the earth the memory lingers on, my love
Ashes to ashes, burn it all down
Tears will not fall
On frozen land we stand to watch it all, my love.

Won't let the grass grow under my feet

Carry you home, memories run deep
Won't let the grass grow under my feet
Carry you home, memories run deep.

There is no one to call out my name
Now that you're gone
Silence has left me standing still, my love
Tonight I need somebody to hold
To hold on to me
Remembering the way it used to be, my love.

Won't let the grass grow under my feet
Carry you home, memories run deep
Won't let the grass grow under my feet
Carry you home, memories run deep
Won't let the grass grow under my feet
Carry you home, memories run deep.
