

King Konga, I Just Don't Care

they say that idle hands just make trouble, but i'll just dig a little deeper if you give the shovel.
they say if you stand still you won't get nowhere,
well i don't have any burdens.
'cause i just don't care.
i just don't care!

i played the guitar when i was eight and they said go away, but, now that i'm charging a rate they all want me to stay.
people say that you're crazy if you take a dare.
so, lock me up and commit me
'cause i just don't care!

i'm worry free, carelessly passing time relentlessly,
i am who i am.
the bills are late-to compensate i guess i'll leave it up to fate.
i really don't give a damn!
i just don't care!

satisfaction can't always be a guarantee, but it doesn't take much for me because, i'm easy to please i say please. i say thankyou because, i know that manners are rare but, if i forget-to hell with it i don't care
