

King's X, Mudd

I remember the last time I saw you
You looked so alive
Everything seemed right and
I couldn't stay, the sun was going down
I had so far to go and I didn't know that

You said you were tired then you went away
Up into the sky

I got the news after the party
I was on the road, couldn't get back home to say goodbye
And see everybody, again to realize
We all have to fly

You said you were tired then you went away
Up into the sky
