

Kirlian Camera, Neferiti One

"(Year 2005.

A small but powerful spaceship called "Neferiti One", only containing the corpse of a beautiful 33 year-old woman, has been launched to space, for the purpose of making possible extraterrestrial intelligent forms of life. The body has been treated with CS4BETA2, a revolutionary mummifying process created by the Canada-based firm Innovative Icon Laboratoires. Neferiti One should be in a position to travel by space one thousand years approximately, before becoming a wreckage lost into eternity)"

Blue suns, crystal and soundless.
Right the third year after departing.
Meanwhile, down on the mother,
another ape is feeling sad.
Lasting fine scent as a human impossible history made by French or Italian liars,
tattooed lipstick and grey eyes
thrust in your sculptural mournful sleep.
On earth, October's last blossoms
are smelling intense filled with life
one minute before getting shadows.
While like an enemy you're going towards the final empty exile
to glorify a far off decline.
Your arms today look slightly tanned
as maybe stars have touched your skin,
going beyond the proof blue crystal.
A new world is coming up to your ship
tomorrow's dawn will see the shape
of a star sanctuary's dream valley.