

Kiros, Transparent

as the morning fog sets in i know i won't see you grin with so much buried within soul's so dark you can't see in dark you can't see in sometimes pain's your only friend the only one who understands that you're so consumed with fear that you'll never draw near to the place
you find truth
you should know
we can see the inside of you and this light, it burns so bright but it's lost here tonight spent your life runing away lost yourself along the way lose convictions in denial you've failed every trial failed every trial
find comfort in misery drowning in your sympathy longing only to be free praying one day you'll see the place
you find truth
you should know
we can see inside of you
and this light, it burns so bright
but it's lost in your life your life.