

Kirsty Hawkshaw, Reasons to forgive

Somebody out there likes me
I can see it in your smile.
Every time I think of you
I know its only a matter of time.
Before Ill be looking into two those deep sincere eyes
And out of this masquerade.
You re-ashore me everything is gonna be fine.
My hung no boundaries I feel my spirit shine.
And Ive glanced over the precipices
Presence pulls me back.
And all the good in me
Is finally set free.
And Ill be, Ill see, Ill be free lass
Though Id love to hold you
Give you my affection
Its only right to share this beautiful air without despair.
Somebody out there knows me
You reflect it in your mind.
Something that I may forgive
The times when I dont try.
I focus on the positive
Remember why I live.
Thank you for reminding me
Reasons to forgive
Reasons to forgive
Ive glanced over the precipices
Your presence pulls me back
And all the good in me is finally set free.