

Kirsty McGee, Steady

if i was steady
would you love me like you do if i was easy would i be enough for you and would you love me if i never lost my nerve
would you love me like you do?

if i was lonely would you hold me in the night if i was tired would you reach out and turn out the light if i was angry would you tell me i was right if i was wrong...? just to make me feel alright?

would you tell me you were there for me only roll me around in your perfect skin would you tell me i need never more be lonely would you close your eyes...and keep on smiling?

and if i asked you would you tell to me your mind would you show me all your sorrows would you leave something behind...? and if i asked too much would you say everything was fine? would you lie sweet lies to be kind?

and sometimes life is harder than the concrete and the clay that pack down hard beneath our feet (oh if life could be more sweet!) i know that you know it too - our love's unsteady but it's true if we ever fall, may we fall upon our feet...

and if we falter let it be because it's real don't go killing me with kindness open wounds never heal and if you love me, don't protect me from anything you feel love me like you do
