

Kitty Wells, According To My Heart

According to my heart you're the one for me

The one love of my life is here when you're with me

If someone stole your love my heart would beat no more

For you're the only one my heart is longing for

Though I don't know the reason why my dreams don't turn out right

Still I'll keep listening to my heart who knows someday they might

For according to my heart the future will be bright

And every day I pray that my heart knows what's right

[steel]

Though I don't know the reason why...

And every day I pray that my heart knows what's right
