

Kitty Wells, Burning A Hole In My Mind

Though it happened long ago the hurt just won't let go

And it's burning a hole in my mind

I see her and I see you and the things we used to do

And it's burning a hole in my mind

I said I'd forget and I tried but my heart tells my tongue that it lied

Though I've tried to forgive every moment I live is a torture the devil designed

In my mind's eye I see how you made a fool of me and it's burning a hole in my mind

(Though it happened long ago the hurt just won't let go

Is a torture the devil designed)

In my mind's eye I see how you made a fool of me

And it's burning a hole in my mind it's burning a hole in my mind
