

Kitty Wells, Only One I Ever Loved I Lost

When I lost your love dear I lost my everything

The sunshine from my life has disappeared

The night we said our last goodbye I wished you happiness

Then I walked away so darkness would hide my tears

Without the face of the loved one this world's a lonesome place

True love is smartly cheap at any call

I'm doin' to be a failure though the future brings wealth and fame

For the only one I ever loved I lost

[ steel ]

If I find fame and fortune what good would get to me

I couldn't fool my heart it knows me best

There's one love in every lifetime mine belongs to you

And that means more to me than all the rest

Without the face of the loved one...
