

Kodamine, Wherever You Are

you say you love me you say you care when you're with me my futures there we get carried away in emotion we lost in each other's eyes and we forget what we regret as we cast our fears aside

when the world's getting hard
I will go wherever you are running blind in the dark I will go to wherever you are wherever you are that's where I'll be

wherever you are that's where I'll be forget the violence for forget the world

I see you smiling
I am lost for words
we get carried away in emotion
we get lost each other's eyes
and we forget what we regret as we cast our fears aside

when the world's getting hard
I will go wherever you are running blind in the dark
I will go to wherever you are

wherever you are that's where I'll be
wherever you are that's where I'll be