

Kooks, Watching The Ships Roll In

Watching the ships roll in hoping that I will still be his friend in the morning watching those ships roll by wishing that I could move this earth if I could for you I would do

I've got nothing to say
I've got nothing to lay at your feet I just keep hoping hope that you will be the man that I couldn't be

Still watching the oceans move if only I could show you my soul and places I've been watching the ocean come and little girls playing in the sand as I walk longing to listen to you talk

But I've got nothing to say
I've got nothing to lay at your feet
I just keep hoping
hope that you will be the man that I couldn't be

I've got nothing to say
I've got nothing to lay at your feet
I just keep hoping
hope that you will be the man that I couldn't be