

Koopa, No trend

So

Take yourself and go

Cause I don't even care if I don't see your face again

This is not a trend

I know not to depend on you cause I know this is the end

Your work, it must be done

Go ahead and tell yourself that you haven't done no wrong

I can't believe you let us go

For a [?] and a silocone ego

Thought you had no lies

Like at thirty-five

With two kids and one who is still alive

So

You left it all behind

And don't say your goodbyes cause I've already erased you from my mind

So

Take yourself and go

Cause I don't even care if I don't see your face again

This is not a trend

I know not to depend on you cause I know this is the end

This is a broken song

Every hurt kid who's about to start and sing along

Cause you say yum, your favorite sum

But my sister is your daughter so it must make me the only one

Or you can stay in touch

Not like you care that much

And I don't give a fuck if you beg a lot

And buy me lots of stuff

Cause this is getting crazy

So I think we have all had enough

So

Take yourself and go

Cause I don't even care if I don't see your face again

This is not a trend

I know not to depend on you cause I know this is the

Where

Tell me where the hell

Where the hell were you when all of this went wrong

Ya where

Tell me where were you

Where the hell were you when all of this was goin on

I'll tell you now

So

Take yourself and go

Cause I don't even care if I don't see your face again

This is not a trend

I know not to depend on you cause I know this

Where

Tell me where the hell

Where the hell were you when all of this went wrong

Ya where

Tell me where were you

Where the hell were you when all of this was goin on

I hope you cause a death is this song.
