

Korn, Start The Healing

Do you really wanna come with me?
It's hard to see from the eyes of a stranger
Are you ready for the feeling to leave
So that you can breathe
And not live with the danger?

But there is always something fighting its way back in
But there is always something pushing me to give in
Do you really wanna make believe
And try to achieve a little break from the anger?

I should've been good
I should've been down
I couldn't let go
What could i do?
I can take it all away, the feelings
Break apart the pain
And start the healing
I should've withstood
I should've bow down
I should've get through
What could i do?
I can take it all away, the feelings
Break apart the pain
And start the healing

Do you really wanna prowl with me?
This travesty cuts sharp like a razor
Are you ready for your scars to bleed?
You will succeed pulling out the invaders

But there is always something fighting its way back in
But there is always something pushing me to give in
Do you really wanna make believe
And try to achieve a little break from the anger?

I should've been good
I should've been down
I couldn't let go
What could i do?
I can take it all away, the feelings
Break apart the pain
And start the healing
I should've withstood
I should've bow down
I should've get through
What could i do?
I can take it all away, the feelings
Break apart the pain
And start the healing

Everything i'm feeling burst into flames
Looking at a soul that's broken and strain
Every night the wish is aalways the same
Keep on hoping that I don't go insane

The more you fall for it
The more it starts to sick
The more you fall for it
The more it starts to sick
The more you fall for it
The more it starts to sick
The more you fall for it
It's never gonna quit!

I should've been good
I should've been down
I couldn't let go
What could i do?
I can take it all away, the feelings
Break apart the pain
And start the healing
I should've withstood
I should've bow down
I should've get through
What could i do?
I can take it all away, the feelings
Break apart the pain
And start the healing