Some like sunshine some like rain, some like pleasure and some like pain, some like peace and some like war, and some don't even know what there fightin for

You see i can see light in the strangest ways, on the darkest nights and the coldest days, and im at that some how that i can keep smilin, i can hear music in the depths of silence, i can find peace in the middle of violence and i can be calm when i should be wild and i can find hope when there is despair dont feel alone when theres noone there.

Some like sunshine some like rain, some like pleasure and some like pain, some like peace and some like war, and some don't even know what there fightin for
Do you ever really know what your fighting for? what your fightin for?
