Kreator, When the sun burns red

Savage heat is searing Global warming has begun Mother Earth is reeling No protection from the sun Forest fires are raging While the rivers turn to ice Foolish man creating Mother Nature's cruel demise Hailstorms, tornadoes Cold spells, untimely frosts Heat waves and blizzards Global death's the cost Faces the end of time As we plunge headlong towards the day Can't deny the signs When The Sun Burns Red The earth will turn From blue to gray Winter turns to summer Then the seasons disappear No one needs a prophet To explain what's all too clear Oceans overflowing Islands drowning everywhere Leaders wouldn't admit it Now they're crying in despair Hailstorms, tornadoes Cold spells, untimely frosts Heat waves and blizzards Global death's the cost Face the end of time As we plunge headlong towards the day Can't deny the signs When The Sun Burns Red The earth will turn From blue to gray Now rain shall wash away sad remains of man Cities once so proud will crumble into sand

Buildings all collapse when all is done and said The guilty ones will die with the innocent...

When The Sun Burns Red